The "Tors" rug blends Bauhaus functionality with Swedish Modern elegance. Its geometric grid and simplified forms recall Bauhaus principles, like Anni Albers' textiles or Walter Gropius' architecture. The muted palette and essential shapes reflect Swedish natural materials and practicality, seen in Bruno Mathsson's furniture. Its balanced composition emphasizes "form follows function," central to both movements. The "Tors" rug harmoniously combines these influential designs. By uniting these styles, it offers both visual clarity and everyday usability. This synthesis makes it a timeless piece that bridges decorative art and purposeful design.
